The CyberPsych Lab

Description of Research Projects

We work on various projects in the area of Clinical Psychology and Personality. We just completed four projects on Obsessive-Compulsive and Related Disorders, Premenstrual Dysphoric Disorder, Autistic Traits, and Digital Hoarding. Currently, we have two studies on Borderline Personality Disorder and one on Trauma. As a research assistant, you will collaborate in collecting data, and gain experience in using databases, doing appropriate statistical analyses, and writing a paper for publication. Additionally, you will be required to attend weekly lab meetings on ZOOM and contribute to discussions relevant to your research objectives.

Please contact ub2142@columbia.edu with a statement of interest, any relevant background, and availability.
