Bulletin Description:
A seminar for advanced undergraduate students exploring different areas of clinical psychology. This course will provide you with a broad overview of the endeavors of clinical psychology, as well as discussion of its current social context, goals, and limitations.

Course Overview:
This course offers a survey of the historical roots and conceptual models in clinical psychology, comparing assessment techniques and therapeutic approaches for their utility, efficacy, and soundness. This course will provide you with a broad overview of the endeavors of clinical psychology, as well as discussion of its current social context, goals, and limitations. We will explore the specific principles underlying the psychotherapeutic process, including factors such as the therapy relationship, motivation to change, and other events that facilitate improvement, stagnation or harm in therapy.

Student Learning Outcomes:
Upon completion of this course, students will have:
(1) evaluated divergent perspectives in the field of clinical psychology;
(2) gained an understanding of various factors contributing to the success of the psychotherapeutic process;
(3) learned about the relationship between science and practice in the treatment of psychological disorders; and
(4) demonstrated knowledge of evidence-based intervention techniques in the practice of clinical psychology

Prerequisites:
PSYC UN1001 The Science of Psychology or an equivalent introductory course in psychology. Instructor permission is required.

Role in the Psychology curriculum:
PSYC UN3623 is a seminar course for advanced undergraduates and students in the post-baccalaureate certificate program in Psychology. This course fulfills the following degree requirements:
- For undergraduate psychology majors, this seminar will meet the Group III (Social, Personality, and Abnormal) distribution requirement and the seminar requirement.
For students in the psychology postbac certificate program, this seminar will fulfill the Group III (Social, Personality, and Abnormal) distribution requirement and the advanced seminar requirement.

Reading Assignments:
All students are expected to read the assigned articles and textbook chapter prior to class. Assigned readings will be posted on the Canvas Calendar/Syllabus. Each student should come to class prepared to discuss the readings.

Required Textbook:

Recommended Reading: Therapist Guidebook

Discussion Questions:
Students are expected to read each set of readings prior to each class meeting. For each set of readings, you must submit at least 1 post per topic to the Discussion Board on Canvas. There will be 3 discussion topics per week. Postings for the week’s readings are due no later than Fri. at 9 pm on the week before the class meeting. Postings submitted after the deadline will result in point deductions. Keep in mind that the discussion leaders need your postings for their presentations, so out of respect for them I ask you to please be on time with your submissions.

Your discussion posts should reflect thoughtful analysis and consideration of the research and theories presented in the readings, and should not be overly vague (e.g., “What is the best treatment to address depression?”), nor limited to details of the article (e.g., “Why didn’t the authors try a different intervention when the first one was unsuccessful?”). A good discussion post should be analytic, insightful, and critical. It should stimulate further discussion. You might reflect on a connection between the current reading and a previous one, or an experience you’ve had. You may also post a link to a relevant article, blog post, or video, along with a comment about its relevance. An example of a strong discussion post is as follows:

The DSM continues to grow every time a new edition is released. The current edition stands at just under 1000 pages and contains countless disorders with many that overlap one another. It may seem as though the DSM carries a strict set of standards and guidelines that direct the way clinicians diagnose, however there is a lot of room for interpretation, because many disorders have symptoms that overlap with one another. I’ve had friends say they’ve seen multiple clinicians, and each clinician made a different diagnosis based off of the same symptoms. This lack of inter-rater agreement prevents effective treatment, and must continue to be addressed. Would a dimensional approach to classification and diagnosis improve the reliability of diagnosis? If instead of looking at number and duration of symptoms diagnosis focused on presence vs. absence and intensity of symptoms, would more people who truly need treatment be diagnosed properly and receive the appropriate services?
Discussion posts are each worth 2 points (2 points per post, 3 posts per week, for 12 weeks = 72 points total). Point totals will be converted to percentages, and will then be factored into your final grade (for example, 68 out of 72 points will be converted to a total score of 94%). In total your discussion posts will count for 10% of your final course grade.

Discussion Leadership:
One or two students will serve as discussion leaders each week. The leaders will be required to present a brief summary and critique of the assigned readings (and case study when relevant) in front of the class, and lead the discussion. The discussion should focus on helping your classmates gain insight into the experiences of the clinical psychologist and patient, and difficulties encountered in treatment. When relevant, discussion leaders should plan to take class members through experiential exercises (e.g., role-playing, personality inventories, etc.).

Presenters are expected to meet with me one week prior to the presentation to review supplemental readings and organization of the discussion. Each presentation must be accompanied by an outline or PowerPoint of the class discussion, and should be turned in by noon (12 pm) Sunday before the class presentation. Presentations turned in late will result in point deductions. Discussion leadership will be scored out of 100 points (45 points for preparation, 45 points for in class leadership, and 10 points for meeting deadlines), and is worth a total of 20% of your grade.

Class Participation:
This class will be taught in a seminar format. Your participation is essential for creating an enriched learning environment. It is expected that you will actively participate in class discussions on a regular basis. You will be evaluated on the quality of your contributions, based on the following criteria:

- The student demonstrates knowledge and understanding of reading assignments
- The student provides new insight building on the reading assignments
- The student is an active listener, who addresses and integrates comments from classmates
- The student’s comments are relevant and not tangential or ambiguous
- The student is courteous and respectful of classmates during class discussions

Participation in class will be scored as follows: 1 point for attending class, 3 points for minimal participation (e.g., 1 comment), and 5 points for full participation (5 points per class, for 13 weeks = 65 points total). Point totals will be converted to percentages, and will then be factored into your final grade (for example, 60 out of 65 points will be converted to a total score of 92%). In total class participation is worth a total of 10% of your grade.

Memoir & Reaction Paper:
Students are required to read a memoir written by a clinical psychologist (or clinical psychotherapist), and to write a brief reaction paper (no more than 5 pages) about the memoir. The purpose of this assignment is to give students an “insider’s view” of the practical experiences of a clinical psychologist (e.g., the complexities of therapy, the everyday and long-term challenges), as a supplement to the case studies we will review in class. Your memoir selection must be approved first (due week 3, 2/11). The paper is due week 6 (3/04). A list of sample memoirs is attached. Completion of this paper is worth 10% of your final course grade.

Research Review Paper:
Students will prepare a research review paper focused on a particular topic in Clinical Psychology. The paper will provide a review of contemporary empirical research that informs our current knowledge of the chosen subject area, and will take the format of a literature review article. At least 10 scholarly works (peer reviewed journal articles or chapters) must be cited. Papers must be written in accordance with APA style guidelines and should be no longer than 15 pages (not including title page, abstract, and references). More specific guidelines are provided at the end of the syllabus and will be posted on Canvas.

The topic proposal for your paper is due Week 7 (3/11), and is worth 10 points. An outline for the paper is due week 10 (11/13, sample to be provided on Canvas), and is also worth 10 points. The final paper is due Week 15 (5/06), and is worth 80 points. In total this project will be worth 100 points, and will count for 40% of your final grade in the class.

Attendance:
Students are expected to attend class and arrive on time. One unexcused absence is allowed during the semester (this does not include excused absences, in cases of illness, religious observance, or other extenuating circumstances). Please email me before the missed class. If you know you will definitely miss at least 2 classes, you should not take this course.

Digital Technology:
Use of digital technology for non-class related purposes is at best distracting and at worst impolite and disrespectful, both to your classmates and the professor. To that end, students are expected to refrain from using phones in any capacity during class. Please turn phones to silent or vibrate during class. If you need to use your phone for any reason, please just leave the classroom. As this is a seminar with no note-taking requirement, I would prefer that students not use laptops or tablets. If you have a specific need to use a laptop/tablet please see me.

General Guidelines for Writing Assignments:
Writing assignments are due in class on the assigned dates. Point deductions for late papers will be calculated as follows: -5 for papers turned in 1-2 days late; -10 for papers turned in 3-6 days late. Papers turned in more than one week past the due date will not be graded (your score will be reduced to 0). To maximize points for written assignments:

• Turn the paper in on time.
• Write in a clear, organized manner. Avoid grammatical and spelling errors.
• Include introductory and concluding paragraphs.
• Include all required elements in the paper.
• Keep to the standard page and formatting requirements (i.e., double spaced, 12 font, regular page margins).
• Turn in a hard copy of your paper in class and post a copy online under the Assignments section of Canvas.
Course grade: In general, a grade of “C” indicates adequate mastery of the material and merely competent written and oral presentation; a “B” shows additional effort, with full understanding of the research and concepts, clear and well-produced written work and regular class participation; and an “A” is reserved for those students producing superior work, which includes a full comprehension of materials accompanied by thoughtful, well-written papers that go beyond the assignment and exceptional class participation.

Final grades will be computed as follows:
- 15% Participation (in-class)
- 15% Discussion board questions
- 20% Discussion leadership & presentation
- 15% Memoir Reaction Paper
- 35% Research Review Paper

The following grading scale is used: A+: 98-100; A: 94-97.9; A-: 90-93.9; B+: 86-89.9; B: 82-85.9; B-: 79-81.9; C+: 76-78.9; C: 72-75.9; C-: 66-71.9; D: 60-65.9; F: 59.9 and below. Once your final grade has been assigned there will be no changes made except in the case of clerical error. Incompletes will not be given to students who are not passing the course (except in extenuating circumstances, with the approval of your advisor and class dean).

Honor Code: The instructor values The Columbia University Honor Code for the integrity it fosters. All assignments in this class are to be completed in accordance with the Columbia College Honor Code, as specified in the Columbia University Guide to Academic Integrity. Barnard College students commit themselves to the Honor Code upon registering for a Columbia course.

Please note: Students with special needs who may require classroom/assignment accommodations should make an appointment with me before or during the first week of class. You should also contact the Office of Disability Services (ODS) in Lerner Hall before the start of the course to register for these accommodations. The procedures for registering with ODS can be found at http://health.columbia.edu/services/ods or by calling (212) 854-2388.

Sample Clinical Psychology Memoirs

GUIDELINES FOR FINAL PAPER

Overview:
The final paper will provide a review of contemporary research in one area of clinical psychology. Choose an area of interest and critically review and analyze the research literature investigating your chosen topic. At least 10 scholarly works (peer reviewed journal articles or chapters) must be cited. Papers must be written in accordance with APA style guidelines and should be no longer than 15 pages (not including title page, abstract, and references). A couple samples of literature reviews are listed below (and will be posted on Canvas); please feel free to use them to help you to think about how you might structure your own literature review.

General guidelines on how to write a literature review paper: Writing a Psychology Lit Review

Overview on writing research papers: Thinking It Through
Sample Review Articles:

Proposal (10 Points):

Prepare an abstract that summarizes the thesis of your paper. Be sure to include a title and a preliminary bibliography (list of references you plan to use in your paper). The abstract should range between 90-150 words.

Sample abstract:

“Many studies throughout the years have demonstrated the efficacy of punishment as a treatment procedure for reducing challenging behaviors. As such, ethical considerations and procedural guidelines have been established to ensure best practices when implementing punishment procedures. In spite of the procedural safeguards and empirical demonstration of efficacy, controversy over its use persists. This paper will review some of the studies that examined the effectiveness of punishment, outlining the various interventions that were implemented and the results that were obtained. Furthermore, the ethical considerations as well as the controversy surrounding punishment will be explored.”

Paper Outline (10 pts.):

Construct an outline for your final paper. It should begin with an introduction to the topic, followed by specific sections building up to the thesis of your paper, ending with a concise conclusion. A sample outline will be posted on Canvas.

General organizational style: (This is a suggested, general outline. You may of course vary yours. Please review sample papers as guides.)

I. Background information
II. Central topic/question/issue (should be specific)
III. Summary of literature (should have subsections)
IV. Conclusions & Future Directions
