Barnard psych courses: Up to 9 Barnard points may be applied as elective credit without DUS approval. Barnard courses approved to count toward specific requirements are listed on the Psychology Website under Degree Requirements; if you want to to count a course not on that list, contact your DUS before enrolling.

Transfer credit: Psych courses taken at other institutions require DUS approval and a grade of B- or better in order to count toward the major. No more than 9 transfer credits (including any Barnard points) may be applied toward the major. See the "Transfer Credits" section of the Psychology Website under Degree Requirements for instructions and an application form.

*Students who have already taken UN1010 Mind, Brain, & Behavior should not take UN2430 as the content of the courses overlap significantly. Please refer to our overlapping courses section on our website.
